Your AI agent shouldn't grade its own work.

```
author     dev
reviewer   dev
verdict    ✓ looks good to me
```

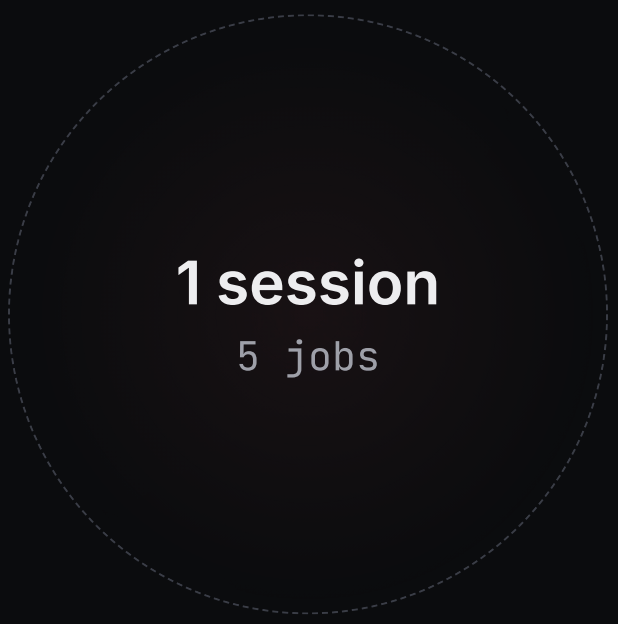

✗ SAME AGENT

THE PROBLEM

One session does everything.

Decisions live in chat history. Nobody plays a different role, so you end up as the only reviewer.

HOW IT WORKS · 1

One command scaffolds the team.

Role agents, source-of-truth docs and owner gates, in any repo. Existing files are never overwritten silently.

~/parcel — zsh

```
❯ npx create-crew --yes --name Parcel --roles business,design,dev,qa,release crew · init Parcel  v0.1.0

  + CLAUDE.md                    project rules
  + docs/AGENT_TEAM.md           roles, flow, owner gates
  + docs/PLAN.md                 phases and gates
  + .claude/agents/business.md   agent
  + .claude/agents/design.md     agent
  + .claude/agents/dev.md        agent
  + .claude/agents/qa.md         agent
  + .claude/agents/release.md    agent
  + docs/business/BUSINESS.md    source of truth
  + docs/design/DESIGN_SPEC.md   source of truth
  + docs/STACK.md                source of truth

Briefs in. Handoffs out.

Every task starts from a written brief and ends with a fixed handoff block. Evidence over assertion.

BRIEF → DEV

Goal
Add a role later without losing edits

Acceptance criteria
Only marked sections change

Out of scope
Custom role packs

HANDOFF · QA

THE DESIGN DECISION

Gates stop for the human.

Scope, design, production, ship, publish: the orchestrator stops and asks. Silence is not approval.

Owner
  |  goal
  ▼
Orchestrator ── briefs, routing, PLAN.md
  ├─▶ business    scope · metric          ◆ G1 Scope
  ├─▶ design      flows · states · copy   ◆ G2 Design
  ├─▶ dev         code · tests
  ├─▶ qa          independent verdict     ✗ FAIL → author
  ├─▶ infra       CI · deploys            ◆ G3 Production
  ├─▶ release     version · go/no-go      ◆ G4 Ship
  └─▶ marketing   launch drafts           ◆ G5 Publish

WHAT MAKES IT DIFFERENT

crew doctor keeps the team honest.

It checks the setup against its own documents, exits 1 on errors and never echoes a secret. freshed and tokensync were built with it.

```
❯ npx create-crew doctor
crew · doctor parcel  v0.1.0

  ✓ Core documents
    | CLAUDE.md, AGENT_TEAM.md and PLAN.md present
